

sundance channel

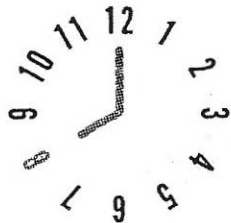

program guide

8/01

AUGUST 2001

Shorts Stop

AN HOUR OF SHORT FILMS

SUNDAYS

at 8pm (E/P)

An encounter that explores boundaries more familial is the subject of Amy Epstein's I've Got You Babe (an action/adventure pic), which premieres as part of Shorts Program 84, airing on Shorts Stop August 26.

Epstein, a teacher and actress who was honored for a screenplay selected as a Sundance Lab finalist, made this unconventional comic drama while a graduate student at Columbia University. Despite the title, don't look for Sonny and Cher or derring-do amidst exploding fireballs. Rather, Epstein describes her film as, "the journey of a young woman who is trying to break free of her father's emotional hold on her."